

Newport News, VA Update

October 2016

It's been a busy period for the crane ships on both coasts. In September, Pacific-Gulf Marine (PGM) Group Manager Keith McHugh, along with the senior shipboard officers, completed ETHICS AWARENESS training. PGM President and CEO Todd Johnson conducted the training onboard the ship.

While the West coast T-ACS were answering the call and performing exceptionally well to an early October No Notice Turbo Activation, personnel from the Group 4 vessels completed MARINE ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS class. Instructor Patrick Potter from American Maritime Officers' STAR Center carried out the 3-day course at Pier 33.

With the continuation of ongoing maintenance projects, recurring training and two shipyard periods to be completed in the coming months, both ship Groups are expected to be quite active as the calendar year comes to a close.
